Description

The School of Nursing, Health, and Exercise Science at The College of New Jersey (TCNJ) invites applications for a full time, Tenure-track, Assistant or Associate Professor position in the Department of Nursing. The ideal candidate seeks an academic career in a comprehensive college that emphasizes teaching and learning in a teacher-scholar model. The successful candidate's primary responsibilities will include effective teaching in classroom (on-campus and off-site) and clinical settings. Full-time teaching load is three courses per semester. Additional responsibilities include scholarship within the discipline, professional development, service on committees, and advising.

Required Qualifications:

- ? - Earned Doctoral degree required in nursing or related field.
- ? - Master's degree in nursing as per the State of New Jersey regulations.
- ? - Expertise in a nursing specialty/clinical population area.
- ? - Minimum of one-year full-time faculty level didactic and clinical practice teaching experience.
- ? - Certification and experience in advanced practice foci area of Adult/Gerontology Nurse Practitioner, Family Nurse Practitioner and/or Clinical Nurse Leader (CNL). Dual certification preferred. OR Higher educational degree in Nursing Education or Healthcare Leadership.
- ? - A track record of scholarship including publication
- ? - Demonstration of a strong research agenda in health, pedagogy, or related areas, with commitment to engaging students in research and pursuing internal and external funding opportunities.
- ? - Additional experience in clinical simulation is a plus.

Founded in 1855, The College of New Jersey (TCNJ), ranked one of the 100 Best Colleges to Work by The Chronicle of Higher Education, is a highly selective, comprehensive, residential institution recognized as one of the outstanding public colleges in the country. TCNJ has earned national recognition for its commitment to excellence. Emphasizing a residential experience for its nearly 6,000 undergraduates, TCNJ is one of Barron's 75 "Most Competitive" American colleges, and U.S. News & World Report's No. 1 public institution of its kind in the northern region of the country. The College also offers focused graduate programs in nursing, education and English. TCNJ was awarded, in 2006, a Phi Beta Kappa chapter - an honor shared by less than 10 % of colleges and universities nationally. A strong liberal arts core forms the foundation for programs offered through TCNJ's seven schools - Arts & Communication; Business; Humanities & Social Sciences; Education; Science; Nursing, Health, and Exercise Science; and Engineering. TCNJ faculty members are teacher-scholars who share a commitment to liberal learning. TCNJ is located within an hour, by train, of NYC and Philadelphia. The College's campus is set on 289 tree-lined acres in suburban Ewing Township and is known for its
