people, a healthy environment, and a healthy economy. We are the resource that helps educate Floridians to address issues related to agriculture, natural resources, youth development, families and communities.

University of Florida/IFAS Extension is seeking an Extension Agent in Collier County to lead Family and Consumer Sciences (FCS) education through the design, implementation, and evaluation of extension programming that meets the needs of the county's varied population. You will collaborate with the County Extension Director and District Extension Director on other duties as assigned by them including multi-county projects.

Duties and Responsibilities:

The Family and Consumer Science Extension Agent will:

- Plan, develop, build, implement, evaluate, report and provide leadership on a comprehensive Family and Consumer Science program focusing on health and healthy lifestyles for Collier County.
- Key educational program topics include:
 - Nutrition, food preparation (cooking), home food safety, food resource management and obesity prevention
 - Family financial literacy and financial management
 - Relationship skills
- Effectively and safely utilize the UF/IFAS Extension Collier County Residential Demonstration Kitchen for impactful nutrition, cooking, and food-related classes; and educational opportunities with other program area agents.
- Coordinate with Collier County Emergency Operations Management division regarding area specific guidelines for family emergency preparations and education.
- Coordinate with other appropriate Collier County Divisions to provide Extension education resources related to health and healthy lifestyles and serve as a resource for community.
- Support opportunities to work with community partners and initiatives to promote health with innovative shared programming.
- Deliver educational programs using a wide variety of approaches (e.g. tours, workshops, seminars, virtual programming, publications, and electronic media) to effectively reach community stakeholders of diverse ages, educational/experience levels, and learning styles.
- Promote, conduct, and foster education, involvement and communication to address issues, facilitate solutions and promote positive behavior change.
- Create, develop and confer with a FCS advisory committee to provide local guidance to ensure that the FCS program in Collier County is relevant with a high level of stakeholder engagement and collaboration with agencies and other partners to respond effectively and efficiently to priority healthy lifestyles and related FCS issues.

- Engage with and accept other duties as assigned or determined to be relevant and/or priorities to Family and Consumer Science education programs by the County Extension Director and the District Extension Director including priority statewide initiatives and devoting a minimum of 5% time to 4-H youth development programs. (Please note that in times of emergency all Collier County Extension Agents serve in emergency function roles and may be assigned emergency support roles).

Further information:

The primary goal of Extension is to disseminate the latest knowledge and applicable technologies in agriculture, human and natural resources, and the life sciences in order to sustain and enhance the quality of human life. The UF/IFAS mission is accomplished through extension faculty members, scientists, educators, administrative staff, and volunteers working cohesively throughout Florida's 67 counties.

Employment is contingent on the results of a national background screening and other screenings required by Collier County government.

All Collier County government employees are considered essential.

Collier County is a major agricultural county along the Florida gulf coast, consisting of more than 2,000 square miles including significant Florida Everglades conservation areas. The county is larger than Delaware. The county has a population exceeding 392,000 with continued projected growth. Most of the population resides near the gulf coast from North Naples to Marco Island. Rural population centers include Everglades City (a small recreational fishing community) and Immokalee (a vegetable farming community). The sub-tropical climate of Collier County makes it ideal for many commercial agricultural enterprises including ornamental plants, cattle, vegetables, and citrus. The natural beauty, sandy beaches, unique environmental diversity, and desirable year-around warm temperatures provide Collier County residents with a healthy location. More than 1 million visitors enjoy a world class recreational and eco-tourism destination each year.

Extension is a partnership between state, federal, and county governments to provide scientific knowledge and expertise to the public. As such, these partners are involved in the supervision of the office and contribute to the salary and support resources. The primary goal of Extension is to disseminate the latest knowledge and applicable technologies in agriculture, human and natural resources, and the life sciences in order to sustain and enhance the quality of human life.
