research needs, and a Siemens Skyra open bore 3T scanner for clinical and research use.

POSITION:

Assistant/Associate Professor: The Auburn University Physical Therapy (AUPT) Program in the School of Kinesiology seeks to hire one twelve-month tenure-track faculty member at the Assistant/Associate Professor rank with expertise in anatomy, biomechanics, kinesiology, movement science, and/or applied neuroscience/electrophysiology practice environments to begin in Summer/Fall 2026. This position is a part of faculty members who will be hired at Auburn University and serve as the core faculty for the Doctor of Physical Therapy (DPT) Program. The program's mission is to educate and train physical therapists, emphasizing service among rural areas in Alabama and beyond. The university's commitment to excellence is outlined in the Auburn University Strategic Plan (https://ocm.auburn.edu/strategic_plan/).

If you are passionate about serving others with excellence, we invite you to apply to our developing DPT program. As a leader in the field, the School of Kinesiology has a long-standing commitment to creating an environment that welcomes a variety of individuals, and we are dedicated to maintaining this culture of quality as we build our DPT program. Housed in the school, the developing DPT program seeks contributions from those of a variety of academic and clinical backgrounds. Auburn University is a land-grant university and houses The College of Nursing, nutrition, College of Pharmacy, speech-language pathology, human development and family science, and College of Veterinary Medicine. The Edward Via College of Medicine also resides on the Auburn Campus and actively partners with colleges across the university. Interprofessional education is a strong foundation at AUPT, with faculty and students training together as an interprofessional team across the curriculum. In addition, AUPT will host a faculty practice teaching clinic for students and faculty to practice and treat many of our communities' populations. The DPT program will be home to a high-tech anatomy simulation lab, two state-of-the-art clinical classrooms, and a dedicated active learning studio/classroom. The DPT program was recently granted Candidate for Accreditation status by the Commission on Accreditation in Physical Therapy Education (CAPTE). On our current timeline, the developing program will receive initial accreditation in the spring of 2028. The program has currently matriculated its first cohort (class of 2028) and is accepting applications for its second cohort to matriculate in summer 2026.
