Assistant, Associate or Full Professor rank (Teaching Stream) with the School of Rehabilitation Science, College of Medicine at the University of Saskatchewan commencing July 1, 2026 (negotiable). Faculty within these Teaching Stream positions will be primarily and substantively focused on instruction and teaching in academic programs. Teaching responsibilities may include teaching courses, clinical instruction, and/or professional practice. Duties normally include limited research, scholarly, and/or artistic work, as well as service and/or administrative responsibilities. Duties may also include limited outreach, engagement, or public service.

This is a unique and exciting opportunity to have a significant impact in developing curriculum and teaching within the inaugural Master of Occupational Therapy program, launching in Fall 2026.

The School's mission is excellence in rehabilitation science teaching, research, scholarship, and leadership to improve the quality of life and well-being for all people of Saskatchewan and beyond. The successful candidates will join our team and assist in advancing our strategic plan focused on establishing a hub for rehabilitation science education, research, and community engagement, strengthening Indigenous initiatives, progressing our graduate programming, and enhancing inter-professional collaborative practice and research.

The successful candidates will plan and teach a wide range of graduate-level courses and mentor students in the Master of Occupational Therapy program and other School of Rehabilitation Science programs across a broad spectrum of practice areas, which may include: theoretical foundations in occupational therapy practice; physical (e.g. musculoskeletal, neuro-rehabilitation) and mental health across the lifespan and health care continuum; and professional practice. In particular, we would welcome applicants with practice and/ or teaching experiences in and with rural/ remote and/ or Indigenous communities.

The University of Saskatchewan's main campus is situated on Treaty 6 Territory and the Homeland of the Métis. The University of Saskatchewan is located in Saskatoon, Saskatchewan, a city with a diverse and thriving economic base, a vibrant arts community, and a wide variety of leisure opportunities. The University has a reputation for excellence in teaching, research, and scholarly activities and offers a full spectrum of undergraduate, graduate, and professional programs to a student population of over 26,000.

Qualifications

The successful candidates must have successfully completed an entry to practice degree in Occupational Therapy, have completed a post-professional graduate degree (e.g. PhD, MSc, MEd, Master of Public Health, DSc) and have at least two years of clinical practice experience. Candidates
